

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A printing apparatus includes an image data input means for receiving input data, image data processing means for processing the image data and
5 drawing the image data in an image memory unit, printing means for forming an image on a transfer sheet using the image data drawn in the image memory unit, and display means for displaying, either dynamically or successively,
10 which process the image data is undergoing at any given moment, beginning with image data reception and ending with image data printing.

0594838-101201